ITEMS OF SOUTHERN NEWS -We find in the Evaceville Journal some items of rebel news from the Nashvilla papers of the 19th :

We learn from a communication dated Richmond, December 3d, that on the Sinday ovening previous, Heery A. Who, jr., preached a sermon from the text "Give us this day our daily bread." A more appropriate in ject could not have been selected by Hahry. He contended that a special providence had been manifest from the in-ment the Star of the West turned her prow out of Charleston habor until now, and predicted an ultimate and glorious triumph for the licted an ultimate and glorious triumph for the

The same correspondent says considerable enow fell the uight before, and considerable specification was effect as to 1s effect on army movements. He thinks of the long itelay of the maile likely to follow. Speaking of Kenlucky, be expresses the wish that she bad been more largely represented in her saversignty convention, but concludes that "that n loaf is better than no bread," and "expects large additions to the present slice when the rides of Teneescenass begin bread," and "expects large eductions to the present slice when the rifles of Toneescenas begin to ring in the great day at Columbus."

The same correspondent learns from an euthentic source "that President Davis had under concideration a matter which would, in all probability, result in the resignation of Gen. Wise and all the officers in bis legion; in which event, Obadish Jennings Wise, his con, would resume his post as editor of the Enquirer, and oppose the administration with all his power, which is not a little. Frank Barton was what the woll calls a real driver. He made anything that went through hie bande inter to his tenest. Everybody liked him because he was frank, and with lead tone t and upright in all his dealings with his custoniers. Ha was well educated for a business man, lived in society, had made up his mind that he could export a wife, and, according to his reckening, could have something to host. Yes, to have no could. There was six dollars a week for board, one dollar a dozen for washing, and then quarters and dimes for taking his ledy acquinimances to ride, in the theatre, to ice-cream talogue, halle, operas, etc.

CEO. D. P. LERGICK. Editors. OLIVER LUCAS, Local Editor and Reporter. THURSDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1861.

It appoars that Senator Wilson has introduced a hill for the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia, and is prepared to press the adoption of the measure. Senator Wilson for this act deserves severe reprehension. The act is increusable and almost inexplicable in one calling himself and called hy others a patriot.

We say nothing of the lawfuluess and propriety of the measure considered in itself, for on this point Senator Wilson and his friends are not open to conviction or appeal; their eenclusion on the subject is foregone. But as respects the bearing of the measure on the reestablishment of the government, which is now the great overruling object of all patriots and which Senator Wilson and his friends con fess to be justly such, he and they, if they are sincere in the confession, surely must ha necessible to reason. And can there be n reasons sonable doubt that the influence of the measuro on the paraaicunt object of the hour would be disastrous and purely disastrous? Certainly

Everything which serves to strengthen the helief of the rehels that the Northern people meditate the destruction of Southern institu tions serves in the same degree to render the suppression of the rebellion more difficult and the return of the rebels to their allegiance more perplexing; for this belief, preduced by tha reciprocal action of the radicals and deni azogues of both sections extending through n period of thirty years and more, is the proximate cause of the rebellion, which, accordingly, can never he so put down as to restore the government if the hellef shall be established instead of being removed. The problem of maintaining the government is twofold; namely, to put down the rebellion, and to show the rebels that the helief 10 which they resorted to rehellion is not just. When in this relation we say the rebels, we of course mean the rebel masses. problem will avail nothing without the solution of the second part also; to put down the robellion in such n way as to establish instead | not ho sold at speculativa prices, and desig of removing the belief out of which the rebellion sprang proximately would be subjugation such circamstances the people of the South though vanquished utterly could never he brought back to their ancient alleginnee. sprang, if we would solve successfully the prices they can get. . real problem before us. Wo must, first, the mournful and appalling fact that the life by none but slaves.

pocially to this hour. Is the light of these hle to the repose and prosperity of the constry, hut, at a time when instigated by pelitical inits numerical power for the abolition of slavery and the degradation of the Southern leep in a gigantie strugglo to assert the national authority and to preserve the national mea are is anc of downright medness. Nothing les can be fairly said of it. Wo trust the measure will be disposed of hy tha Senate in the most summary mode of rejection known to parliamentary law. The objeet of the war on our part, as recognized by all branches of the public authorities, is the tion of every loyal man in and out of Congrees. Wa hope they will receive it. The whole brood of abolition measures brought out before Congress should be "scotchad" and ''killed'' on the spot. As sure ns they are suffered to live so sure will they strike their keen poison-fangs to the country's heart. The pretext that any one of these measures is calculated to promote the object of the war in either of the two great stages of that object is nothing short of ahsurd. Every action or word of the authorities military or civil even smacking of abolitioaism makes tha rehellion more hard to deal with and the re-establishment of the governmen more emharrassing, beesuse, as wa have already noticed, it tends to strengthen the belief which gave rise immeditely to the rehellion and that alona supports it. This view com mands assent without proof. It is axiomntic, Whence it follows that the avowed ground on which these measures are urged is a sheer pretext; the real ground is a desire to destroy slavery without regard to the preservation of the ountry. Lat the real ground he stripped of its disguiso and he mado to stand forth in ita own colors. When this shall be done we have the most unwavering confidence that the measures hased thereon will be nobly spurned by the representatives of the people.

And it will be done. We see with satiafaction that one of the Kentneky delegation has already performed the needful task in the House. Ho will be followed by others, not only from the loyal South but from the loyal North as well, until the atrocions and destrucfanatical authors to recoil from the exhibition.

Abolitionism cannot successfully rear its head in any guise in the American Congress al such an awful crisis as this. It is impossible. The very attempt is sacrilege. The abolitionists have no claim to detate measures for the healing of the cnormous gash on the fair the Mason and Slidell business is right, but we don't believe that it is prompted by patriotic motives.

We think that the country should have mahated confidence in Gen. McClellan. All forts to disparage him are in our opinion not nly weak hut deserving of condemnation. We know that he has the fullest confidence of those who are admitted most nearly to his onfidence. They all regard him as an officer f extraordinary military genius and energy,a genius and energy tempered by wisdom and prudence. We have no idea that G u McClellan could t present netack Manassas successfully and nore than Gen. Beauregard could attack Washington successfully. The armies at the two places are probably about equal in numbers, and Manassas is fortified far more powerfully than Washington. The attacking party, whichever it might he, would almost certainly be defeated. Luch, aware of this, has been longing to be attacked by the other, while the one has been compelled to listen to the loud cry of "On to Mauassas," and the other to the equally loud cry of "On to Wash-

The secessionists taka a very different view of Gen. McClellan's inaction from that taken by the impatient spirits of our own section The Munichis Argus says "the Confederale troops in the Mississippi valley have done a porting in Virginia, whose whole occupat seems to be watching McClellan, who feels and knows that with him time is strongth papers in Richmond and other portious of the South express the same views in tones equally querulous. None of them seem to entermia a loubt that every day Manassas and Washing. on passively confront c..ch other weakens the rehel cause. And probably they bave pretty ood means of judging.

Unquestionably our army upon the Potoma s un immense one to he supported for any great length of time in a state of inactivity. even though it be "masterly inactivity." We have no doubt that G in. M Clellaa's policy is to send off troops from the Potomae to other oints South and West as fist as they may ecin to he ucedal, retaining only enough to render Washington and Maryland secure Our people may feel assured that his mind omprehends the whole country and not merely a small spot of it.
